SERVICE AGREEMENT

Love Your Labor's Doula Services provides physical and emotional support and encouragement to the laboring woman and her partner. No services that are clinical in nature, such as taking maternal blood pressure, listening to fetal heart tones, performing vaginal exams, etc., will be administered by the doula, Jodi Mathews.

The responsibility for making decisions during labor remains with the laboring woman. This includes the decision as to when to leave for the hospital/birth center during labor. All decisions regarding medical care are to be made by the laboring woman and her medical care providers. When providing labor support, Jodi will not negotiate for care with medical personnel on behalf of the laboring woman.

If Jodi will be providing doula services in the hospital, this must be prearranged by the pregnant woman with her doctor or midwife and the hospital.

FEES FOR LABOR SUPPORT SERVICES

Love Your Labor charges $500 for its services. This includes a $250 labor support fee and a $250 on-call fee.

The on-call fee includes one prenatal consultation, the commitment to be on-call for your birth and unlimited phone consultation and support. One postpartum visit is included in the labor support services fee. The on-call fee is due upon signing of this agreement at the prenatal visit. This commitment means Jodi will do everything within her control to attend your labor and birth. Due to the nature of being on-call and the level of personal commitment Jodi has towards her clients, the on-call fee is non-refundable. If Jodi is unable to attend your birth because of extenuating circumstances the remaining balance of the fee will be waived.

The balance of the fee ($250) is due at the postpartum visit unless prior arrangements have been made.

I have read the above agreement and I understand and accept the description of labor support services and fees.
